Policy Overview

Under modifier -25 correct coding principles, a patient may be seen by the physician for both a preventative evaluation and management (E&M) service and a problem-oriented E&M service during the same patient encounter. Duplicate payments occur when a provider is reimbursed for resources not directly consumed during the provision of a service.

The purpose of this policy is to define payment criteria for problem-oriented visits when billed with preventative visits in making payment decisions and administering benefits.

Application

Physicians and other qualified health professionals.

Policy Description

Modifier -25 represents a significant and separately identifiable E&M service by the same physician on the same day of the procedure or other service.

A physician or other qualified health professional may submit both a preventative E&M CPT® code and a problem oriented E&M CPT® code on the same date of service for the same patient. Once clinically validated (see CC.PP.013 “Clinical Validation of Modifier -25”), if the problem-oriented E&M represents a significant and separately identifiable E&M procedure or service, the problem-oriented procedure code will be reimbursed at a reduced rate.

Reimbursement

Providers do not incur duplicate indirect expenses with the original E&M (preventative service) when there is a problem-oriented visit on the same date of service. For example, obtaining vital signs, scheduling the visits, staffing, lighting, and supplying the examination room costs are not incurred twice by the provider. Reimbursement should not be duplicated for these services.

The health plan conducts a clinical claims review of E&M coding combinations when a problem-oriented visit is billed with a preventative visit regardless if modifier -25 is present.

If the problem-oriented visit is appended with modifier -25 or without modifier -25 and clinical claims review supports a significant and separately identifiable E&M service; the health plan will reimburse the preventative medicine code plus 50 percent of the problem-oriented E&M code.

Documentation Requirements

The following guidelines will be used to determine whether or not a significant and separately identifiable E&M service was used appropriately. If any one of the following conditions is met then reimbursement for the E/M service is recommended:

- If the E/M service is the first time the provider has seen the patient or evaluated a major condition
- A diagnosis on the claim indicates that a separate medical condition was treated in addition to the procedure that was performed
- The patient’s condition is worsening as evidenced by diagnostic procedures being performed on or around the date of services
- If a provider bills supplies or equipment, on or around the same date, that are unrelated to the procedure performed but would have required an E/M service to determine the patient’s need
